PIRONGIA TE AROARO O KAHU RESTORATION SOCIETY IS A NOT-FOR-PROFIT VOLUNTARY GROUP BASED IN PIRONGIA IN THE HEART OF THE WAIKATO

Volunteers prepare to fill bait stations

Our society was formed in 2002 with the aims of restoring the native ecosystems on nearby Mt Pirongia and involving the community in our projects. With the full Māori name of Mt Pirongia in our title, we consciously model Māori values in all our environmental work. We are a registered charity.

We focus on three main themes:

-  RESTORATION
-  CONTRIBUTION
-  ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS

We have a close relationship with the Department of Conservation who actively encourage our project within the confines of Pirongia Forest Park.

Help us BRING BACK THE BIRDS

KŌKAKO, TOUTOUWAI (North Island robins) and KIWI once graced these slopes. We aim to bring them back and help those species still here to thrive through regular pest control. We already have a bait station grid covering 1030 hectares and a team of community volunteers helps us to fill the bait stations and monitor results. For the past five years, our control programme has been very successful thanks to funding from charitable organisations and members of the public who become personally involved through our 'Sponsor a Hectare' scheme. We would love you to become involved and

...share our VISION

Sacred to Māori, Mt Pirongia was first named 'Pirongia Te Aroaro o Kahu' by a tohunga of the Tainui canoe. This translates as 'the scented presence of Kahu', his wife.

Mt Pirongia has the largest tract of unbroken bush in the Waikato. It is a highly valued ecological site for the diversity of its native plants and animals.

Sadly, due to predators (such as rats, possums, stoats and feral cats), some iconic bird species are no longer present. We want to change that ...
